 In February's Slumber: Sleep and Dream

with Marie Manilla

February 14th, 2017

BOOKS & BREWS

2759 Main Street, Hurricane

6:00 – 7:30 PM

The cruel cold of midwinter drives us deep to hibernate, to wait while the earth is renewed and ready to receive us again. In the depths of our slumber, we are open for the best of a dream to arise.

Marie Manilla is the author of Still Life with Plums, Shrapnel, and The Patron Saint of Ugly. Her writing is deep, psychological, pondering. It digs down and brings forth truth and revelation, often using elements of magical realism, which enables the reader to imagine the impossible that is somehow possible.

More Than Words* provides a relaxed atmosphere for writers and other attendees. Writers will share their words and ideas and encourage and celebrate good writing.

Books and Brews is an open, safe place with plenty of parking serving meals, appetizers, coffee, tea, craft beer and wine.
